THE THEATRE

Strand Theatre

"Lightning Bryce," 15 episodes of fast, furious action laid in the Far West is in keeping, in the speed of its action, with the "Lightning" part of the title. In plot, in the logic of the story, in the work of stars and support, in direction and in camera work, "Lightning Bryce" merits the title applied by its producers, "The Wonder Serial." Of it Moving Picture World says: "It is the Mickey of serials."

Those who have seen it endorse this view; those who have not seen it may judge of what to expect from these facts:

Jack Hoxie and Ann Little bring to the stellar parts the height of screen art and daring in the many stunts, horseback and otherwise, which make "Lightning Bryce" a serial far beyond the ordinary, to speak conservatively in praise of the serial. These stars, both Western bred and at home in the action of this Western story, are supported by a big and capable cast, headed by the director, Paul Hurst, who plays the "heavy," and Jill Woodward, who enacts the role of the "woman of mystery" whose place in the plot is a mystery until the very end of the 15 thrilling episodes.

California's plains, sea beaches and the Chinatown of one of its cities provide the varied scenic setting for this serial. Many scenes of natural beauty enhance the excellent photography which marks the entire serial. The company was moved from spot to spot in the making of this serial, at great expense, every one concerned, from the late "Bill" Parsons, president of National Films, the producing company, Brandt, Hurst, Jack Hoxie and Ann Little being determined to make "Lightning Bryce" far superior to any serial ever produced, no matter what the cost in money and in toil and danger.

That they succeeded is attested by the welcome given "Lightning Bryce" wherever the serial has been seen by the public. It is a serial which starts well—and maintains and even increases its entertainment and suspense pace as episode succeeds episode in the remarkable 15 chapters of thrills.

The opening chapter will be shown at the Strand Monday afternoon and evening together with Tom Mix in "The Terror" and a comedy.

Killing Power!

Anything that kills — from fire-arms to poison—is dangerous. The safety factor is an important consideration in manufacture.

The minute you detract from the killing power of Arsenate of Lead you are not getting what you pay for. Consequently—the first consideration in the making of Ansbacher's Arsenate of Lead has been quick, certain death to the insect. At the same time the amount of free arsenic has been so minimized that it won't injure a leaf of the most delicate foliage. It is death to bugs and harmless to plants. It's a safe insecticide.

It stays in suspension in the spray and does more without costing more. The Ansbacher name is your guarantee of quality and under this brand comes also exceptionally effective Paris Green and Bordeaux Mixture.

Come See This Book of "Cornell Interiors"

"Cornell solved our space problem," says the factory superintendent. Millions of feet of waste space are being converted into useful quarters this way. Filtrations of machinery cannot cause Cornell to crack or fail.

We have just received this new collection of views that shows the variety and charm of paneled interiors so easily obtained in any room by using Cornell-Wood-Board instead of lath and plaster.

Come in and see the finished effects that you can reproduce in your home, store, office, factory or garage with "Cornell 32" or "Cornell 48" widths. Cornell is everywhere admired because of its handsome "Oatmeal Finish" not found in other wallboards.

And Cornell's "Triple-Sizing" process gives triple protection against moisture, expansion and contraction.

Cornell-Wood-Board

We recommend Cornell for new construction, remodeling and repairing because there is nothing cleaner, more sanitary and attractive, nor so inexpensive.

It is easily applied with hammer and nails right to the joists and studding or over damaged plaster. Come in now and look over the ideas in this new book.

"No Interruptions During Alterations," says Cornell-Wood-Board. It is used for walls, ceilings, partitions, exhibition booths or showrooms instead of lath and plaster. No messy mending work for all to dry.

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"

Look for the ROWENA trade-mark on the sack

LILY WHITE is a flour containing the choicest selection of soft and hard wheat grown in America. Soft wheat improves the flavor and color. It insures the baking of a good looking loaf of bread. The flour is correctly balanced to make as good bread as it does biscuits and pastry.

There is just enough hard wheat in LILY WHITE to make it the Ideal all-around flour.

After being cleaned four times it is scoured three times, then actually washed, so that every bit of dirt is removed from the kernels of wheat. Everything baked from LILY WHITE is light, tender and of delightful flavor.

Give LILY WHITE a good trial. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.
